

FFF Enterprises and VaxAmerica Sponsor Community H1N1 Flu Clinic

Temecula-based company helps slow the spread of H1N1 by offering community-wide vaccinations this weekend.

Press Release | December 3, 2009

FFF Enterprises, Inc., the nation's largest distributor of flu vaccine, announced today that its turnkey community vaccinators program, VaxAmerica, is hosting an H1N1 mass vaccination flu clinic this Saturday, December 5th, in Murrieta, CA. The clinic will be held in the Murrieta Mesa High School gymnasium from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., and all are welcome.

Temecula-based FFF feels privileged to host another local H1N1 clinic for the members of the community who have been looking for vaccine protection from the novel H1N1 virus. Walk-ins are welcome, and pre-registration is also available at www.VaxAmerica.com. Community members are encouraged to pre-register to reserve their vaccine and minimize their wait. Those wishing to pre-register for themselves and individual family members can do so on the VaxAmerica website through Friday, December 4th. Credit and debit cards, as well as Medicare, Medicaid and Medi-Cal will be accepted both onsite and online. Cash will also be accepted onsite. Available vaccines include the injectable vaccine for ages 3 and up; the pediatric injectable vaccine for ages 6 to 35 months; and the Flumist (live intranasal spray) for ages 2 to 49 years.

Launched in 2008, VaxAmerica is a nationwide network of care sites enabling the safe, easy and convenient administration of preventive vaccines—even those in limited supply such as H1N1—to individuals or groups at a convenient location near to them. While VaxAmerica has a national reach, it is also known for its local touch, offering cost-effective vaccination solutions for patients, healthcare providers and health plans.
